2012-2013

- No research demonstrated that the 12 MFIP work activities correlated with strong employment outcomes.
- Education, credential building, career coaching, and retention services are evidence based practices – the foundation of revised Employment Services.
- Pairing the 12 activities more closely with career coaching, education (emphasis on completing GED or high school diploma), certificate and credential building, mentoring, and retention services would increase the effectiveness of Employment Services and move more people from welfare to work.
- Use term “engaged” to designate the Participant actively determining his/her own goals and their future.
- Education, work, and health engagement into community activities can get people out of poverty and help stabilize families. Continue focus on family stability and children’s success.
2014-2015

- New Vision Outlines – adjustments of MFIP/DWP services in line with DHS initiatives – focus on long term goals
- Coaching and counseling (shifting role of coach and counselor)
- Language executive skills into framework – life long learning
- Participant choices – dreams, goals, self-determination, strengths, etc...
- Participants in activities that matter (not just ones that count)
- Motivational Interviewing continues to be a crucial skill/tool
- Recognizing and incorporating cultural attributes and strengths
- Sanction as a tool in the mix with other tools
- Fast Program
Findings From Pilot Focus Group

General Feedback
- Participants stated it took an average of 20-30 minutes to complete
- Significant variation in how the MBS was explained, delivered, completed and updated by employment counselors
- Participants stated they had developed goals in the past, but they liked using the GAP better than other formats

Strengths focus of MBS
- “At first it felt like a lot, but the encouragement from the job counselor really helped make it easier”
- Easy for some, but more difficult depending on complexity of goals and approach taken by ES
- The interaction between participant and counselor felt more conversational than directional
Findings From Pilot Focus Group

Benefits of GAP
- Simple to follow
- Options for the type of goal is different
- Motivation was a key indicator

Limitations of GAP
- Nothing new
- Consistency is necessary
- Too complicated?
- Too simple?

➔ The main takeaway: Keep an open mind←
The Big Picture
Shift in Vision

- Previous: Process focused
- New: Family-centered, participant-driven and outcome focused. We want to reduce isolation and help families to be part of the community at large. Services drive outcomes, provide great services and enter information and outcomes will be met. Key outcomes are education, engagement, employment and employment retention

Key Components
- Executive Skills and Life Long Learning
- Coaching, Counseling and Career Planning
- Motivational Interviewing
Career Planning, Coaching and Counseling

- ES counselors are expected to incorporate career planning, coaching, intervention and counseling techniques and tactics while working with their participants to develop clear, measurable goals and corresponding pathways to obtain these goals.

- The ES counselor will determine which approach is best to use during meetings with participants on an individual basis.
  - Move from one approach to the next as needed during meeting
Career Coaching – Rooted in the belief that the participant is the expert in their own life (MI).

- Participant comes up with their own answers to their questions.
- Counselor’s role:
  - Discover participant’s values
  - Use a strengths-based approach to goal-setting
  - Break down goals into small, achievable steps
  - Educate the participant about choices
  - Be a champion, and a supporter
Career Counseling

Career Counseling – The career counselor is the subject matter and has expertise to offer.

- More direct than coaching.
- Obtain information on from the participant regarding their skills, abilities, styles and preferences.
- Counselor helps the participant direct their job search and selection of the right career path.
- Counselor utilizes resources such as lists of possible trainings and careers.
Career Planning

- Career Planning – listening to the participant’s self-defined needs (MBS).
  - Counselor’s role:
    - Provides support, structure and accountability to participants to help them achieve their goals.
    - Use assessment tools such as interest assessment and strength assessments.
    - Labor Market research and intelligence
      - Use DEED, iSeek, ONet
Where This Training Fits In and Next Steps

- Fall 2014 was the initial introduction of the MBS
- June 2015 is the MBS workshop
- July 2015 will be Coaching Training (PCG)
- Fall 2015 will be Lifelong Learning Training (Mathematica)

The Red Thread (how this fits together):
EBP informs us that a holistic model of recognizing the individual being the expert in their own lives is what makes the difference.
Public Consulting Group (PCG) has been working with governments on improving program outcomes since 1986.

Composed of a network of over 1,400 professionals throughout the US, Canada, UK and Poland

National TANF policy experts

Integrate best practices and research designs into comprehensive, innovative programs to benefit families

Experts on current research focused on the impacts of executive function on behaviors, abilities and cognitive skills

The PCG Coaching Framework has three components while supporting the improvement of essential skills:

- Person-Centered
- Relationship-Based
- Goal-Driven

www.pcghumanservices.com
Lifelong Learning (Mathematica)

- Research firm located in Washington DC, who has long-term experience in redesigning TANF programs
- Will provide consultation around the analysis, development, and implementation of an infrastructure that supports the continuum of Coaching and Executive Skills/Lifelong Learning Development.
- Area employers as well as proponents of the National Career Pathways Model, have long requested workforce programs to develop job seekers’ essential skills such as time management, prioritization, response inhibition, stress management, etc. along with the technical demands of the job.
- Executive skill development through the act of “Coaching” is a tool, or ES intervention, that strengthens essential skill development and self-awareness, leading to greater success with long-term education and employment goal achievement, thus breaking the cycle of poverty and creating greater economic prosperity for individuals, families, and communities.
Executive Functioning

- Executive (essential) skills are the mental process needed to focus attention, control impulses, multi-task, prioritize and filter tasks, and plan for the future. (including both short and long term goals).
  - This encompasses listening, speaking, problem solving and critical thinking skills.
- We are not born with executive (essential) skills, but born with the ability to develop it.
  - Examples: completing paperwork, addressing problems, participating in group collaborative efforts and team meetings, accurately computing numerical data, communicating effectively as a group.
Promoting Life-Long Learning

Turning barriers to employment into challenges.

- Participants are able to increase their internal resources and independently:
  - Problem solve unexpected issues
  - Self-regulate their own behaviors
  - Set both short and long-term goals
  - Use their skills to be a leader in their community

“See one, Do one, Teach one.”

Procedures

- Purpose of MBS is explained to participant.
  - Purpose of MBS is to help participants identify areas of strength and possibly areas to focus on or reinforce.
- MBS is completed during initial meeting(s) with any participant that is new to a counselor (regardless if they have completed MBS in the past)
- Participant and counselor have a conversation, and go through each pillar together. Participant chooses the statement that they feel is most representative of their situation.
- Strengths that participant have within themselves are discussed and listed on MBS form.
  - It is the counselor’s role to assist with identifying strengths as needed by asking questions and providing feedback (not checklists, etc).
What If My Participant is in Crisis?

- Perhaps these participants are the ones that would benefit the most.
- Allows for participants to focus on one area of their life, when life is overwhelming.
- Encourages the participant to break down daunting tasks into more achievable steps.
Use MI skills to draw out strengths

- “If we asked your best friend/parent/significant other, what would they say were your greatest strengths?”
- As participants explain situations they have been through in their life that they perceive as negative, encourage them to see what was they gained from it (ex. learning experiences, building strengths)

Link these strengths to their accomplishments and goals

- Discuss when they have used these strengths in the past and how they may apply them to their current situation.
- Which of your goals can you use your strengths and abilities?
Discussion:
Introducing MBS to Participant

Read off statements and discuss strengths and weaknesses of each introduction approach.

Decide together how to introduce MBS to the participant.

- “So we have this new thing, it is called My Bridge of Strength, I am going to hand this to you, and I would like you to circle whatever you think is best.”
- “I am going to work on your plan, while I am doing that, fill this out. If you have any questions just ask.”
- “Okay so this is your homework: fill out this bridge and we will go over if when you get back.”
- This is a bridge that identifies different areas of your life. We are going to go through each section together and have a conversation.
  - Tell me more about your living situation. Please circle whichever statement most closely reflects your current situation.

- Other considerations:
  - Completing MBS with/without interpreter
  - Completing with participants who are unable to read the content
“Non-Negotiables”

As counselors, what do we need to hold ourselves accountable for while working with a participant on their MBS:

- Always presented in a strength-based, participant centered manner
- Focus on foundational pieces and the relationship-building process – initial stages of the bridge are for engagement
- Conversational and completed together (participant talking more than counselor, not question and answer)
- Belief in the tool and desire to work together with participant
- Participant always chooses for themselves (no right or wrong answer)
- Be present, authentic, flexible, and respectful
- Non-judgmental, safe environment

Using Goal Action Plan in Practice
Goal Planning

- Participant identifies and choose their own goal to focus on leading to increased engagement and overall success.
- Setting goals and following through with them increases our EF (essential skills) and self-regulation:
  - Working memory
  - Mental flexibility
  - Self-control
SMART Goals

• Specific - What will the goal accomplish? How and why will it be accomplished?

• Measurable - How will you measure whether or not the goal has been reached?

• Attainable - Do you have the necessary skills, knowledge and resources to accomplish this goal without it defeating you?

• Relevant – What is the purpose of accomplishing this goal in your life?

• Time-Limited – In order for an applied sense of urgency, what completion date has been established?

Employment Plans

- Employment plans will remain largely unchanged.
- MBS – No reference of the MBS in EP needed
- When GAP is completed – statement in EP in comment section:
  - “Follow through with ongoing goal action plans.”
Example Employment Plan

- See handout
Case Note in WF1

- The counselor writes a detailed case note “telling the story” of the meeting including explaining each area on the MBS discussed with the participant.

- Workforce One case note type: Counseling and Guidance

- Case note subject line:
  - Enter the letters MBS in the subject line of the case note if the MBS was completed during the meeting that is being case noted.
  - Enter the letters GAP in the subject line of the case note if the GAP was completed during the meeting that is being case noted.
  - If both the MBS and the GAP were completed during the meeting that is being case noted, include both acronyms in the subject line.
Example Case Note

- See handout
Participant Case File

- MBS – Participant takes their MBS with them, a copy is also kept in their case file.

- To celebrate the participant’s accomplishments, review the MBS (showing progress).
  - The MBS is also useful to reference when there is a lack of progress or to help the participant center their focus and identify goals.

- GAP – Participant takes their GAP with them, a copy is also kept in their case file.
Evaluation
Evaluation/Data

- Goal of Evaluation: to use program data and counselor/participant feedback to better understand the impact of the GAP and MBS and coaching services as well as the overall use of the tool.
- Data will be pulled from the WF1 case note regarding completion of the MBS and GAP.
  - Will be included in quarterly report card.
- Additional data evaluated:
  - Change in earnings and hours worked
  - Change in engagement and increase in education
  - Sanction status
- Each counselor will be asked to complete a survey in January.

Review of Expectations

- Who: All participants should have MBS and GAP completed.

- How often: Each participant new to counselor will have a MBS completed within first 3 months of initial meeting. GAPs will be developed when a participant has identified a clear goal.

- Start date: July 1st

→ Each existing participant should have MBS and GAP completed within the next 12 months
EM Requirements

- Still needs to be completed once in a lifetime per participant (or more often per agency policy)

- Reason: “see case note” and explain reasoning of each section in the MBS case note (to avoid duplicating work).
